

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLORADO

Public Notice of October 21, 2008

This Court announces that Chief Judge Edward W. Nottingham has tendered his resignation as a judge effective October 29, 2008.

Judge Nottingham was appointed to the Court on November 27, 1989 by President George H. W. Bush. Under Judge Nottingham's leadership, the District of Colorado developed and implemented several advanced technological methods of conducting court business to include electronic courtroom evidence presentation and electronic case filings.

Throughout his judicial career, Judge Nottingham worked tirelessly to ensure that his courtroom and case management practices were premised on the law and applied fairly to all who appeared before him.

Succeeding Judge Nottingham as chief judge is Judge Wiley Y. Daniel. Chief Judge Daniel was appointed to the Court by President William J. Clinton on June 30, 1995.
